Race 3 - 7:00PM RANVET PLATE (1100 METRES)

Fascinating race for us and Trial Files followers with a blackbooker lining up against AMOREAUX who got beaten at $1.02 first-up when selected. #6 AMOREAUX is our early favourite and she is just a bit of a weak animal. Should have run second last start also, looming up before not exactly finding the line. Convinced she has ability and we do like her. McDonald on today and the fact she's in the care of Chris Waller (who no one can catch) scares the living daylights out of us here. Can win this easily without surprise and she should peak now over 1100m third-up, she just looks a little short in the market for a horse who hasn't found the line in her last two.

#1 GAYLORD is the value in the race. Shame there's no third dividend here however. Loved his recent trial and a few may have missed him there, running 6th of 9. He was last early but his work through the line was fantastic. 1100m might be short of his best, especially given his trial was over 1050m but he does look to have the ability to give this a big shake.

Then there is #2 MARCHESI who has been hard in the betting at his two career runs. This is no huge surprise given the stable and ownership but he has been a little disappointing, beaten by over 2 lengths on both occasions. His trial leading in was pleasing and he is a chance.

#8 SILVER CLIFF is a blackbooker but has been scratched. Keep an eye on her when right and when she steps out.

SELECTION:

Tough race but glad Silver Cliff has come out. #6 AMOREAUX is too short in betting but a scary horse. Small WIN #1 GAYLORD.
